

I Believe that the FCC should not go forward with reversing laws that keep the Internet equal for all users. big businesses will never look out for individual customers their main concern is their shareholders and their pocketbooks.